

LADIES WHO RACE

If there are two lady powerboat racers that every boater would like to meet it's Lady Violet Aitken and Shelley Jory. Mike Taylor heads south for a memorable day's boating.

It's no secret that in the world of powerboat racing, blokes compete against women on a relatively equal footing. But while some women racers seem to achieve notoriety they barely deserve purely on the basis of the novelty of their gender, there are some leading exponents of women's racing who are to be roundly congratulated for having blazed that trail . . . ➤